HEALTHCARE SYSTEMS

MODERN HEALTHCARE REQUIRES PERFECTLY CRAFTED TECHNOLOGY

American healthcare is changing dramatically, with a focus on patient outcomes. Delighting your patients with top-quality clinical care and excellent customer service requires a modern information architecture — one that empowers clinicians and patients, protects sensitive data from hackers, enables connected health, and more.

Today's healthcare systems are expected to do much more than treat the sick and injured. They must also manage their patients' care holistically, helping to get and keep them healthy; deliver access to providers efficiently so that patients who need care get it quickly; maintain accurate, up-to-date health records electronically; and keep patients' Protected Health Information safe from prying eyes. And they must do it all while controlling costs.

How can you Rest Assured knowing that your technology can handle it all, and then some? By deploying a NetCraftsmen HealthAssured network.

NetCraftsmen's deep experience with complex information architecture of healthcare systems both large and small makes us the perfect partner to help you:

- 1. Extend care delivery beyond the walls of your hospital or practice, deploying advanced telemedicine technology to allow your providers to see and treat patients wherever they are, whenever they're in need.
- 2. Achieve the full benefit of your electronic health records system and improve the interoperability of multiple medical information networks.
- 3. Securely manage all of your mobile assets and connected medical devices.
- 4. Comply with HIPAA and other government regulations, Medicare and Medicaid rules, Meaningful Use criteria, and more.
- 5. Enjoy the cost benefits of an efficient, well-managed information network.

Providing the level of care, service, and security your patients demand requires world-class information architecture that's perfectly crafted for your health system. It requires a NetCraftsmen HealthAssured network.

NetCraftsmen's deep experience with healthcare systems both large and small makes us the perfect partner to modernize your information architecture for the 21st Century.
